' FROM PETERSBURG.

PETERBEURG, July 10. About 5 o'clock on Friday evening, our artillery along the whole line opened upon the enemy, and at the same time our men mounted their works and these the enemy, who sought the cover of their fairenchments, and replied with artillery. The firing lasted about 30 minutes.

No assault has been made on our lines during the week and the impression is that the enemy has drawn off their forces from our front.

For several nights the rumbling of artillery and wagons have been distinctly, beard all night. The enemy however still keep up a show of force all along our entire front. All is quiet to-day.

FROM RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, July 8.

Nothing of special interest has been received from the Valley to-day.

It is reported that another large force of Yankees are crossing to the North side of the James River to-day.

LATER FROM RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, July 9. The citizens carried off by Grant from Fredericksburg, as hostages for the Yankees captured in the town after the battle of the Wilderness, have been exchanged. They left Washington on Wednesday and arrived at Fredericksburg on the same day.

Intense excitement prevailed at Washington in consequence of the announce ment that 40,000 rebels were approaching that city.

Lincoln has called out the Militia in the adjoning States.

A telegram from Harrisburg says the excitement there, is intense in view of the raid of Breckinridge in the direction of chambersburg. One report says Breck inridge has 20,000 men and has whipped Seigle.

Owing to the great risk of fire and the difficulty of disposing of freights at the termini of these Roads, the following orders will be strictly observed:

Shippers are forbidden from putting cotton and forage in the depots, or any platform of this Company without the consent of the agent, otherwise, they will be held responsi-ble for all damages to the Company.

Shippers must agree to promptly receive their freight at Charlotte, Columbia and Junction, and remove them upon delivery, especially when connecting roads cannot re-ceive them, otherwise they will lose priority of transportation ...

This company will not be responsible for any cotton or forage before loaded, or after it is discharged from its cars, or for any goods after twenty-four heurs from their delivery in its denots.

Agents will receipt for no goods until they IMPORTANT ARREST: - A man calling himself James W. King, was arrested in Hamburg on Sunday last, by Capt. Spiers, and brought over and lodged in the jail in this city, as a Federal spy. A paper representing him as a sergeant in the Federal army was found sewed up in the lining of his coat, and in his possession were several forged Confederate documents.

A rigid examination into his character has been had by the authorities here, and if found guilty of the charge brought against him, he will meet with instant and condign punishment. A Confederate detective has arrived here this morning, we unders'and, who says he is satisfied that King is a spy, and who will sift the whole affair, in connection with the civil and military authorities of the post. - Augusta Constitutionalist.

The Nev. York Times, in its editorial, estimates Grant's losses in killed and wounded North of James River at 70,000 men, Sherman's losses at 45,000, and the total Federal losses since the 1st of April at fully 185,000 men.

The Transportation of Mails, our Army, etc.

We copy from the Danville Register, of the 8th inst., the annexed editorial in reference to Gen. LEE's army, the Danville Road and the transportation of the mails:

"The people are now called upon to aid in getting supplies to our noble army under General Lee, by furnishing wagons and teams to haul meat and corn across the gap made in the Richmond and Danville Railroad by the Yankee cavalry. The road will not be source, is working well, and stiring news of completely repaired for several weeks to the most gratifying character may soon be come, and in the meantime food must be carried to the soldiers. They, for the present, have an ample supply, but not enough to last through the campaign. The Government has not the teams at a convenient distance, and it will behoove the people to render the desired assistance or the worst consequences may ensue."

"It is not supposed that these teams will be needed more than a few weeks, at most. The Engineer Department of the army is now assisting in repairing the railroad, and the work will no doubt be pushed forward with all possible dispatch. The iron to relay the track is being taken from the Statesville, N. C. railroad.

"No arrangement has yet been made to transport the mails across the breach in the Danville railroad. The raiders left the road on the 26th of June, and coaches might easily have been put on the line in a day or two afterwards, to transport the mails between Meherrin and Roanoke, yet nearly three weeks have elapsed and no steps have been taken to secure this object. We do now hear, indeed, that the Postmaster General promises to attend to this matter in the course of a week or two! Thus the Capital city and the Army of Gen. Lee are cut off from all mail communication, with the South, because, forsooth, the Postmaster does not think it a matter of sufficient importance to demand his prompt attention. A day or two after the road was cut, the Southern Express Company, a corporation that has some life in it, put wagons upon the line to span the gap, and have been regularly carry-ing packages of all sorts through, ever since. If the people had not long ago voted the Post Department, under the present management, as a public nuisance, and as something out of which no good can come, they would be disposed to murmur at this utter lack of energy and attention to the public interests; but as it is, they expect nothing more. We need look for nothing better for the pres-

[Ed. Carolina Times. A Tribute

On the death of Cadet WILLIAM H. McDowner Waras killed at the battle of New Market, May, 15th, 1864. In Shenandoah's sweet and lovely vale,
There rises nown mound of sacred earth;
The brave young hero sleeps, his lasting sleep,
Pierced to the heart, by ruthless, vandal foe;
And Oh! how much of honor, valor, truth, How much of youthful daring, purity, Lie in that silent, calm, sequestered spot? Virginia's hallow'd sod, has never yet, Entomb'd a truer heart, a purer soul. Heards't thou, that wail of bitter anguish

In Carolina's distant home of love? As tidings sad, confirm'd the dismal fear, Sees't thou that manly Father's bowed head ! But Oh! look not again that crushing blow, Can she, the fregile Mother; bear and live? Now flow afresh, for one so lov'd, so pris'd Of patriot sires, a noble scion thou—
And well thou did'st their vitues emulate, In manly firmness strong—In truth severe.
Unto thy God, thou gav'st thy youthful heart,
Thy life blood to thy country's sacred cause,
A willing victim thou-! Around thee lie
Four youthful comrades brave, a martyr band, Oh! never more, together wilt thou tread, The halls where sainted Jackson, taught, and pray'd,

The site, now only mark'd, by chimney's tall, And mould'ring ashes-burnt by demon foes, blood,

Oh what a Blessed change ! thy spirit pass'd To that of heavenly glory—bliss supreme! Farewell blest shade, till in the happy home, Our voices mingle with thy notes of praise, To Him, who wash'd thee in His precious

From Charleston, S. C.

The latest news we have received from Charleston is through the Courier of the 8th instant, from which we make the following extracts:

The bombardment of Sumter and heavy firing in Stone continued at one o'clock Fri. day morning, the hour of closing this report.
Since writing the above we learn that the enemy on John's Island, about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, made three separate advances on our lines and were repulsed each time with heavy loss Our own casualties were estimated at one hundred killed and wounded. The fighting is said to have been quite severe for a time.

The firing on the city continues about as usual. Twenty-five shots have been fired since our last report.

Everything, we are assured from a high expected.

From Petersburg. The Petersburg Express of the 5th nst furnishes the following : Heavy connenading commenced last night about 10 o'clock, on our left. One of the guns used was swhopper, and each explosion shook the city. We understand it belongs to a Confederate battery, but could not learn the damage done the enemy last night.

It was reported yesterday that a heavy force of the enemy had crossed the James during the day and located itself at Deep
